A PLACE IN HISTORY

During the Second World War, Everard and Sons owned, managed and chartered 450 vessels, which were engaged in the evacuation of Dunkirk, D-Day Landings and the Liberation of Europe.

Everard and Sons started placing business with the London P & I Club for many years. The business was put on an official standing when Everard Insurance Services was created in 1969, enabling the company to diversify into other forms of insurance.

In 2006 Everard Insurance Services became an independent business, they then relocated to West Malling in 2010. The business was acquired in July 2018 by Lloyd's broker James Hallam Ltd.

SUPPORTING THE MARINE INDUSTRY

Everard has been providing insurance solutions for 50 years, becoming an essential part of their clients' businesses by instilling confidence, stability and assurance that we will support them when our services are required.

We take the time and trouble to understand each client individually, whether their needs are simple or complex, to ensure we obtain the correct cover at a competitive price. We match the needs of each business with the skills and experience of each underwriter, aiming to build long-term relationships based on trust, expertise and service.

JAMES HALLAM

In July 2018 Everard Insurance Brokers became the marine division of James Hallam Insurance Brokers Ltd.

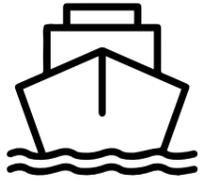

This acquisition is a merger of our businesses which has proven to complement each other with shared values, common goals and the desire to exceed expectations.

CLAIMS

Should the worst happen, we have a dedicated claims team who ensure a hassle-free claims experience for our clients.

We furnish clients with a 24-hour helpline number so that, when needed, they can hear a reassuring voice at the end of the phone offering specialist knowledge and advice.

We will manage your claim from the first point of contact through to it's conclusion.

ACCESS

We work with brokers too.

While we will always prefer to deal directly with our clients, we understand there will be occasions when there is a preference to access our services through an existing insurance broker. We often cater to the wholesale market and work alongside many other brokers delivering the same bespoke services levels and experience.

KNOWLEDGE & EXPERIENCE

We are members of key industry bodies including British Marine, the UK Harbour Masters Association and the National Workboat Association with our staff sitting on active committees on the British Marine Federation.

Everard policies are backed by A-rated insurers, leaving our clients safe in the knowledge that their assets are protected by insurers who have strong financial characteristics. In addition to our scheme arrangements we have a strong presence in the Lloyds Market enabling us to provide and arrange complex insurance programmes.

We attend a full program of Marine industry events and seminars to ensure our staff are always building on their knowledge which in turn enables us to service our clients better. You will find us at the following events every year:

Seaworks International

UKHMA Spring & Autumn seminars

Southampton International Boat Show
